MHT Partners is proud to announce that National Neuromonitoring Services has acquired Hanover Medical Group and the neuromonitoring assets of The Spine Institute of Louisiana and will serve as provider for neuromonitoring of their patients. MHT Partners acted as exclusive financial advisor to National Neuromonitoring Services ("NNS" or the "Company").

These acquisitions further expand NNS' presence in Louisiana and expand the Company's footprint to include Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania and California. Additionally, these acquisitions mark the beginning of a newly formed relationship between NNS and more than 25 best-in-class physicians, partnering to improve quality of care and ensure patient safety through neuromonitoring.

NNS is an intraoperative monitoring group comprised of nationally certified technologists and neurologists. They monitor the activity and function of their patient's brain, spinal cord and peripheral nerves during surgery and relay this information to the surgeon while in the operating room.

The MHT Partners' team was led by Taylor Curtis and Patrick Krause.
