School Improvement Network, a leading professional growth provider for education, has been acquired by Frontline Education, an integrated insights partner serving more than 12,000 Educational Organizations. MHT Partners served as exclusive advisor to School Improvement Network in this transaction.

“Our goal is to help leaders create personalized learning opportunities for their educators, resulting in improved teacher effectiveness and dramatically higher student achievement,” said School Improvement Network Senior Vice President of Marketing and Strategy, Brent Bingham. “We have the opportunity to ensure that this important work continues as part of the Frontline Education family.” Bingham adds, “MHT Partners was able to navigate the process with expertise and strategic insight which resulted in a highly successful outcome for everyone. MHT’s tenacity, transaction acumen and overall market knowledge drove this home for us. It was a great experience.”

Shawn D. Terry, Co-Founder and Managing Director, MHT Partners, states “School Improvement Network’s enormous resource library and micro-credentialing capabilities coupled with Frontline’s existing library, solutions platforms and shared focus on professional growth for teachers promises to be a game changer for the education industry. We are confident that they will have a productive partnership as they continue to expand Frontline’s robust product offering.”

Adds Alex Hicks, Director, MHT Partners, “We are very excited to have represented School Improvement Network in this transaction. We thoroughly enjoyed working with this incredibly talented team and look forward to their continued success as part of Frontline Education.”

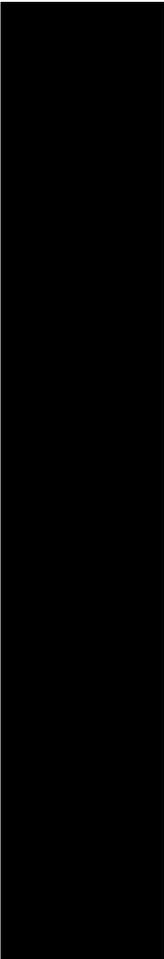

“Professional Growth is a critical part of the Frontline Insights Platform and School Improvement Network’s unique resources in professional learning are unmatched,” said Frontline President & CEO, Tim Clifford. “We have always believed in the value of professional learning in advancing student outcomes but this acquisition is especially relevant and timely considering the recent focus on federal funding of professional development in education.”
